ACC has inducted ten new Student Ambassadors to join two senior ambassadors for the 2013-14 academic year. All were nominated by faculty or staff and selected by a screening committee.

The program was established in 1987 by the ACC Foundation and more than 200 students have represented the College since then. Their duties as ambassadors include representing ACC at public events, helping conduct tours for prospective students, and providing a link between the College and the local community.

This year’s group includes:

Senior Ambassadors

Kimberly Calvey (Culinary Arts) relocated back home to North Carolina after living in New Orleans. Kim, married and mom to four children, works part-time for a restaurant, maintains a 3.75 GPA, and as a first-year culinary student was selected to ACC’s Culinary Competition Team.

Carrie Johnson Parker (Nursing) graduated from Southern Alamance High School and first attended ACC as a dual enrolled student. She earlier served as Spanish Club president, was a member of the founding class for Sigma Delta Mu Spanish Honors Society, has served as a graduation marshal, and is a work study student in the library. Carrie is married and mom to a four year-old daughter. After graduation, Carrie’s goal is to work in Duke pediatrics and attend Duke University to attain her MSN.

New Ambassadors

Mairit Dunn (University Transfer) is a native of Estonia, who has lived in the U.S. since her early twenties. She is a member of Sigma Psi, Phi Theta Kappa and the International Friendship Club on campus. She maintains a 4.0 GPA, has two children, and plans to transfer to UNCG to study accounting.

Kristen McCauley (University Transfer) graduated from Western Alamance High School and is a member of the CSTEP program at ACC. She plans to enroll at UNC Chapel Hill in fall 2014 to study nursing. She hopes to one day earn her doctorate in nursing, labor and recovery.

Denora Mendez (University Transfer) came to the U.S. from her native Mexico in the late 1980s with her family. She is a graduate of Lexington High School. The mother of two works part-time and is a member of Phi Theta Kappa at ACC. She hopes to earn her masters in nursing.

ACC Student Desperate to Help Family in Philippines

Philippines native Merly Leon is an Office Administration student whose concern is overwhelming for her family in the nation hit by the recent super typhoon.

When the typhoon hit the Philippines, Merly was studying for a test at home in Alamance County and suddenly felt her heart race. She could not concentrate and turned on CNN where she saw the news about the disaster but few details. Communication was nonexistent. It took three days before she began to see desperate pleas from friends and family on Facebook and the media’s first reports of the historic level of devastation. Merly found out her parents and sister survived their wrecked home, but that six other relatives died. No one has food or water.

Merly recently sent $100 of her own money via Western Union to her family in the Philippines. Now she just wants to go home and see them but cannot afford the $2,000 airline ticket.

“I am someone who never even asked for food stamps when I was starting out here,” says Merly, who previously worked at Duke Energy payment center and now as a cashier at Flying J while studying at ACC. “I have never wanted to ask for help but flights are so expensive and I just want to get home to see and help my family.”

WANT TO HELP? To assist Merly Leon, contact the ACC Foundation Office, G200A (506-4416).

Book Donations Needed for Sale

Books are being collected now for the 9th Annual Jean Slaughter Scholarship Book Sale, set for February 5. All proceeds from the book sale go toward supplementing the Jean Slaughter Memorial Scholarship Fund, awarded to students with financial need who are enrolled in the university transfer program. Jean Slaughter, English instructor and longtime head of university transfer, died in 2004.

DONATION LOCATIONS: Bring books now through early February to the office of Anne Helms (B206) or Dr. Marla Dunham (B211).

BOOKS NEEDED: General fiction, mysteries, craft and decorating books, cookbooks, children’s books, how-to books, travel books, biographies and comic books.

TAX RECEIPT: Anyone who wishes to receive tax credit for their donations may pick up a Non-Cash Gift Acceptance Form from the ACC Foundation office in the Gee Building.

ABOUT THE SCHOLARSHIP: The scholarship, which pays full tuition and books to a university transfer student, has been awarded eight times. It is facilitated via the ACC Foundation and is currently funded at approximately $37,000.

Jaclyn Moseley (Criminal Justice) graduated from Eastern Guilford High School. She enrolled at ACC after spending several years in the workplace. She is married and the mother of one child. She plans to pursue a career in criminal justice and continue her education.

Dustin Poe (Culinary Arts) graduated from Southwestern Randolph High School. He came to ACC to explore his passion for food and cooking. He is a leader on the Culinary Arts Competition Team and works at a fine dining restaurant in Chapel Hill.

Evelyn Rivera (University Transfer) graduated from Cummings High School. At ACC, she is an officer in Phi Theta Kappa and a work-study student in the Human Resources office. She plans to continue her education at UNC Chapel Hill to earn her BSN and work as a mid-wife.

Leah Shepherd (University Transfer) is a graduate of the ABSS Middle College located on the ACC campus. Since enrolling at the college, she has been on the Dean's List and is a member of Sigma Delta Mu. She plans to continue her education in radiography.

JEFFREY WEBSTER (Horticulture Technology) came to ACC for the Career Transitions class via the Employment Security Commission. He enrolled in Horticulture Technology to pursue his interest in landscaping. He is a member of the FLORA Club, serves as a SGA officer, and represents ACC on a state-wide student leadership panel.

Alfred Williamson (University Transfer) graduated from Orange High School. His love of music led to his participation in a band. At ACC, he has maintained a 4.0 GPA. He plans to transfer to a university to major in bio-statistics.

Allie Woody (University Transfer) is enrolled in the CSTEP program, which guarantees her admission to UNC Chapel Hill after completing her degree at ACC. She has been nominated to Phi Theta Kappa and plans to earn her RN/BSN and attend pharmacy school.

Electrical Cooperative Presents Scholarship to HVAC Student

Patrick Bray, a first-year student in ACC’s Air Conditioning, Heating and Refrigeration program, has received a $1,000 scholarship from Piedmont Electrical Cooperative. John Hines, Marketing Representative, made the check presentation at the ACC Foundation Office.

Hines said one reason that Piedmont Electrical Cooperative, based in Hillsborough, chose ACC to initiate this scholarship last year is because two other area community colleges do not have heating and air programs. Bray, 26, of Snow Camp first enrolled at Sandhills Community College to study computer technology but switched to ACC and its heating and air program.

“I switched because heating and air is a career that keeps growing, that can’t be outsourced. And I want a career that will pay well to help my family,” said Bray, who plans to pursue his associate degree.

Department Head Rodney Barber gave a tour of the heating and air lab to John Hines and Rachael Benedict of Piedmont Electrical Cooperative.
Honoring ACC’s Veterans
To commemorate Veterans Day in November, ACC’s History Club hosted its annual breakfast (courtesy of the ACC Café) for the College’s students and faculty who have served in the U.S. military. Among those who attended were: (above, l-r) Chuck Matheson (Air Force), accounting student; Sean Garland (Navy), university transfer; Mary Alva (Coast Guard), ACC alumna and graphic design assistant/Marketing Office; and Ron Hall (Navy), Dept. Head of Criminal Justice. (Above right) Randy Matthews (Army).

Spanish Honor Society

College Fair
Students talked to representatives from four-year colleges and universities at ACC’s annual College Fair on November 21 to learn about transfer options after graduation from ACC.
The 4th annual ACC talent show, sponsored by the Music & Dance Club, raised $111 to help three local children during the holiday season. Brandi Speer, singing Foolish Games, was the winner and received a $25 Visa card. Second place was Joshua Lanning, dancing to a mixed music set, and winner of a $10 Amazon card. Third went to Micah Auler (left), singing and playing guitar to an original song, and winner of a $10 gift card to the ACC canteen. Judging was handled by Dr. Terry McNeill, Dr. Roger Lane and Jessica Orio. Pre-show entertainment was provided by the ACC Chorus under the direction of Dr. Roger Lane. (photo submitted)
Business Community Welcomes ACC President

Dr. Algie Gatewood, celebrating his first seven weeks as ACC president, was feted with a reception held at Glen Raven, Inc. to meet members of the Alamance County business community. The ACC Foundation coordinated the event and Culinary Arts provided refreshments.
